PROGRAMS & OFFERINGS

Flying Cloud Institute was proud to serve the community during the educational crisis created by the pandemic by partnering with local schools, Berkshire South, Flying Deer, Greenagers, and VIM to offer in-person, full-day learning programs for K-8 children. This program ran 5 days a week, fully outdoors, and was free of charge to students on free/reduced lunch. With remote learning support, educators made it possible for families to continue working while their children were learning. This partnership continued through the summer with enrichment in the public schools, as well as our summer programs. In school, after school, and during vacations, FCI makes science and art accessible to everyone. Local artists and scientists share their expertise in ceramics, chemistry, robotics, painting, engineering, graphic novels, nature exploration and filmmaking. We promote learning through direct experience, inquiry-based teaching, and collaboration with local cultural and educational resources.

North Adams, MA 01247
(413) 398-5228
info@hoosicriverrevival.org, hoosicriverrevival.org

PROGRAMS & OFFERINGS

The two mile, 70 year-old, channelized section of the Hoosic River in downtown North Adams is not only unattractive, inaccessible, and officially “impaired” [inhospitable to wildlife], its concrete walls are seriously deteriorating. Since 2010, HRR has been working with engineers and world-renowned urban designers to assess the conditions of the flood chutes: to develop options for flood control modifications which would maintain protection and improve the health of the river; and restore community connections to the riverine environment. With a 21st century flood mitigation design, residents and visitors might enjoy fishing, boating, riverside biking, walking, and community gatherings. Given the urgency of serious climate resilience issues facing the city of North Adams, HRR is working diligently with city, state and federal officials to secure funding for flood control modernization. A healthy, equitably-accessible, attractive flood-controlled Hoosic River is our goal. In addition, we offer community river-related education programs and activities.

MISSION

Walking Our Talk envisions an ever-widening culture of trust, care, and connection rippling out from our women’s circle practice, restoring the well-being of self, community and the world.

PROGRAMS & OFFERINGS

Since our beginnings in 2006, Walking Our Talk circles have met in Berkshire County locations once a week for two hours in the spring and fall. Since becoming a nonprofit in 2019, the circles are 6 or 8-weeks long and are sometimes offered in the summer and winter as well. In the seasons when circles are not running, we offer monthly SuperCircles, a sort of reunion circle which offers reconnection and support. During the COVID lockdown we found meeting on Zoom expanded our reach beyond the Berkshires and brought a badly needed sense of safety and connection to many women isolated by the pandemic. Circle facilitators, who have been specially trained for their roles, lead the group in creating an environment of safety and compassion that supports individual growth and fosters community. Each circle of 10-14 women follows a specific, timed structure and a set of powerful agreements that have been refined over more than 10 years. As women co-create community together they step with greater confidence and tenacity toward advancing their personal initiatives as well as those that powerfully impact the greater community for the better.

In addition to Mainstage productions and special events, WAM’s activities include innovative community engagement programs and the Fresh Takes Play Reading Series. To date, WAM has provided paid work to more than 500 theatre artists, the majority of whom are female-identifying. As a civic organization that embraces intersectional feminism (feminism that acknowledges how multiple forms of discrimination overlap), WAM understands that to address one piece of systemic discrimination means we have to address them all.

PROGRAMS & OFFERINGS

YES is a mentorship platform evolving the way under-resourced student-athletes develop through college. Applying a life coaching approach to mentorship, YES leverages education and athletics to help scholars build life skills throughout their experience in our program. Our goal is to help our scholars develop proficiency in 6 core soft skills for success in academics, athletics, and life beyond — time management, being coachable, being proactive, using a support network, networking/relationship building, and conflict resolution.

Our platform is growing to include: Free, customized, online content for under-resourced student-athletes across the country; a Book Club open to scholars, donors, volunteers, and the general public; a Podcast Channel hosted by our Co-Executive Directors, and more! Subscribe to our online mailing list via our website, or send an email to info@yesforchange.org asking to be a subscriber to stay up to date as our journey continues!

We recently received our 501(c)3 status, so now all direct YES donations are tax deductible! Special thanks to Liana, Elizabeth and the NPC Board of Directors for being our fiscal sponsor the previous year while we waited to receive our status!

INTERPRINT

Interprint's Paldao is a decor designed and printed to resemble the grain of tropical walnut trees native to Malaysia. Printed decor is then laminated to engineered boards used in furniture and cabinetry. Sourcing materials surfaced with decors like Paldao, instead of solid wood or veneers, reduces the demand to harvest tropical forests.
